Portfolio Update

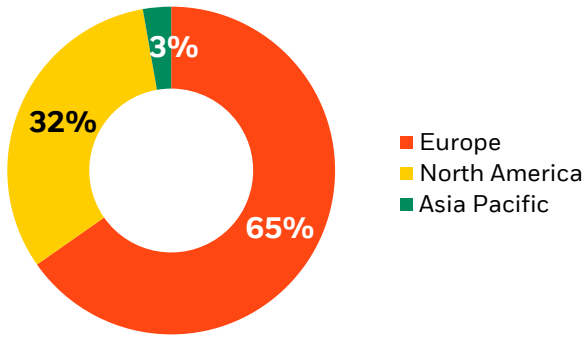

The BlackRock Private Equity Fund (BPE) has continued to build out its portfolio since its launch in April 2025, supported by ongoing capital deployment and the development of a diversified portfolio across private equity strategies. As of 31 August 2026, the Fund held 17 investments across buyout and venture capital in Europe, North America and Asia-Pacific, providing exposure to a broad mix of sectors, end markets and stages of company development.

During August, Fund performance benefited from valuation increases across several existing investments, including Anthropic, a leading AI safety and research company; AS Classifieds, a portfolio of leading digital classifieds businesses across Europe; and Froneri, a leading global ice cream manufacturer with a portfolio of well-known consumer brands. These developments reflect continued progress across the existing portfolio as companies advance their respective value-creation plans.

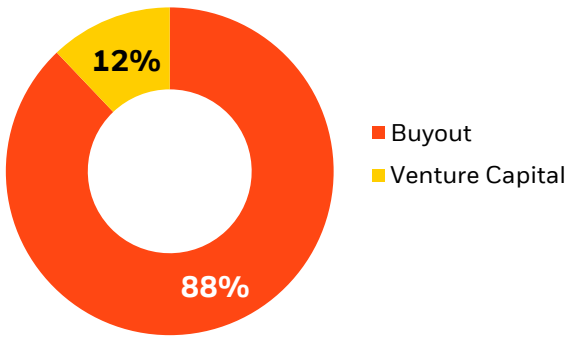

Looking ahead, the Fund has a strong pipeline of further investments, with multiple transactions approved and expected to close over the coming months. New investments that are expected to be completed in the near-term span security services, construction and engineering, media and entertainment, and logistics, across a range of investment strategies. The Fund continues to draw on BlackRock's global private equity platform and long-standing relationships with sponsors, management teams and industry participants to source opportunities across sectors, geographies and transaction types. The investment team is also actively evaluating a broader pipeline across both buyout and venture capital.

BlackRock Private Equity Fund

Key Risks

THESE RISKS ARE NOT EXHAUSTIVE AND INVESTORS MUST REFER TO THE PROSPECTUS AND THE KEY INFORMATION DOCUMENTS FOR THE FULL LIST OF RISKS TO WHICH THE FUND IS SUBJECT.

Capital at risk. All investments involve an element of risk. The value of investments and the income from them will vary and you may get back less than you originally invested or lose all the capital you invested.

Currency risk. Changes in the rates of exchange between currencies may cause the value of investments to fall or rise. Fluctuation may be particularly marked in the case of a highly volatile market environment and the value of an investment may fall suddenly and substantially.

Market risk and recent events. The Fund directly and indirectly, through its investments, subject to a wide range of market risks related to the instruments it will invest in. This includes (but is not limited to) equity market risk, interest rate risk and credit risk. The value of investments may decline due to changes in general market conditions, economic trends or events that are not specifically related to the company, or factors that affect a particular country, group of countries, region, market, industry, group of industries, sector or asset class. Local, regional or global events such as war, acts of terrorism, the spread of infectious illness or other public health issue, recessions, or other events could have a significant impact on the Fund and its investments. Other influential factors include political, economic news, company earnings and significant corporate events. For investments in collective investment schemes, the price of underlying funds changes regularly depending on the performance of the assets held by the underlying funds which in turn may affect the value of your investment.

Illiquidity. The Fund is intended for long-term investment by Investors who can accept the risks associated with making highly speculative, illiquid investments in privately negotiated transactions. The Fund's shares will not be tradeable on a public exchange and therefore the only means to realise investments will be through the limited redemption process offered by the manager. There is no guarantee that the fund will be able to offer liquidity to all redemption request received, these may be subject to a delay in line with the powers of the manager and ELTIF regulations. The illiquidity of the underlying assets of the fund may worsen due to adverse conditions impacting a particular manager, fund, issuer or counterparty, or the market or because of legal or contractual restrictions on the resale of underlying assets.

Reliance on Key Individuals. The success of the Fund depends in substantial part on the skill and expertise of key individuals. Should one or more of these individuals become incapacitated or in some other way cease to participate in the activity of the Fund, its performance could be adversely affected, including in respect of the continuing availability of third-party financing. There can be no assurance that such key individuals will remain involved with the Fund or its investments or otherwise continue to be able to carry on their historical or expected roles throughout the term of such investments.

Limited Operating History. As of December 2024, the Fund is a newly-organized entity that has no prior operating history or track record. Performance will depend upon the availability of suitable investment opportunities. Historical and / or hypothetical performance figures may not be achievable in practice and investors should treat these with caution. There is no guarantee that a positive performance outcome will be achieved.

Valuation risk. The Fund will be exposed to securities and other assets that will not have readily assessable market values. The valuation of such securities and other assets is inherently subjective and subject to increased risk that the information utilised to value such assets or to create the price models may be inaccurate or subject to other error. Due to a wide variety of market factors and the nature of the securities and assets to which the Fund will be exposed, there is no guarantee that any value determined will represent the value that will be realised on the eventual disposition of the Fund's investments or that would, in fact, be realised upon an immediate disposition of such investment.

Leverage and interest rates. The Investment Manager is permitted to cause the Fund to borrow funds as described in the prospectus and in accordance with the ELTIF regulation. The use of leverage (i.e. the use of debt financing) presents additional risks to the Fund's Investments, including increasing the volatility of the Fund's Investments.

BlackRock Private Equity Fund

Key Risks

Conflicts of Interest. As a global provider of investment management, risk management and advisory services to institutional and retail clients, BlackRock engages in a broad spectrum of activities. Although the relationships and activities of BlackRock should offer attractive opportunities and services to the Fund, such relationships and activities create certain inherent actual and potential conflicts of interest including, without limitation, conflicts between the Fund and other client accounts/funds managed by BlackRock, relationships with BlackRock's shareholders and relationships with service providers. In the ordinary course of business, BlackRock engages in activities where its interests or the interests of its clients may conflict with the interests of the Fund, certain investors or the Fund's investments.

Potential conflicts of interest exist in the structure and operation of the Fund's business and should be considered carefully before investing. Section 13 of the General section of the prospectus sets out the conflicts of interest which may exist in the structure and operation of the Umbrella and the Fund in further detail.

Legal, Tax and Regulatory Risks. The legal, tax and regulatory environment for funds, investment managers and the investments they hold is continuously evolving. Over recent years global financial markets have undergone pervasive and fundamental disruption and regulators in many jurisdictions have implemented or proposed a number of regulatory measures and may continue to do so. The regulatory framework of the ELTIF is relatively new. Legal, tax and regulatory changes could occur during the term of the Fund. Additionally, legal or regulatory requirements (or changes to existing requirements) may adversely affect the ability of the Fund to pursue its investment strategy, for example, by imposing material costs on the Fund, reducing profit margins, reducing investment opportunities, or requiring the restructuring of the Fund and/or the key fund entities.

Availability of investments. The success of the Fund depends on the ability of the Investment Team to identify direct Co-Investments that they believe can help the Fund achieve its return objective, to develop and invest in such Co-Investments. The availability of such investment opportunities will depend in part on general market conditions, competition for investments and the continued availability of Co-Investment opportunities from the lead sponsors of direct Co-Investments. This may result in a drag on performance as there is no assurance that the Fund will be able to fully invest its committed capital.

Concentration/Lack of Diversification. Although the Investment Manager will seek to diversify the Fund's portfolio across different investments, the Fund may invest a significant percentage of its capital in one investment or class of investments, or in a relatively small number of investments. One risk of having a limited number of investments is that the overall returns realized by the Investors may be substantially negatively affected by the negative performance of a small number of such investments.

Private Equity. Private Equity Funds invest exclusively or almost entirely in financial instruments issued by companies that are not listed (or that take-over publicly listed companies with a view to delisting them). Interest in an underlying private equity fund will consist primarily of capital commitments to, and investments in private equity strategies and activities which involve a high level of risk and uncertainty. Except for certain secondary funds, private equity funds will have no operating history upon which to evaluate their likely performance. Historical performance of private equity funds is not a guarantee or prediction of their future performance. Investments in Private Equity are often illiquid and investors seeking to redeem their holdings can experience significant delays and fluctuations in value.

Company Risk. Direct Co-Investments – investments made directly into private equity assets alongside other financial, strategic or third party investors – may involve a high degree of risk. Direct Co-Investments may be in early stages of development, may have operating losses or significant variations in operating results, and may be engaged in rapidly changing businesses with products subject to a substantial risk of becoming out of date. Direct Co-Investments may also include companies which can experience financial difficulties, which may never be overcome. In addition, they may have weak financial conditions and may require substantial additional capital to support their operations, to finance expansion or to maintain their competitive positions.

Key Risks

Co-Investment. The Fund may invest in Co-Investments alongside third-party co-investors. Third party co-investors may at any time take a different view than that of BlackRock as to the appropriate strategy for a Co-Investment, and may be in a position to take action contrary to the Fund's investment objectives or may become bankrupt or otherwise default on their obligations. It is possible that no single co-investor will have a controlling interest in the investment, giving no party the ability to control the transaction and potentially resulting in increased costs, delays or even termination of the investment. There may also be instances where the Fund (alone or together with other investors) may be deemed to have a control position with respect to some Co-investments, which could expose the Fund to liabilities in which the limited liability generally characteristic of business operations may be ignored. In connection with the disposition of an investment in a Direct Co-Investment, the Fund may be required to make representations and warranties about the business and financial affairs of the Co-Investment typical of those made in connection with the sale of any business, and may be required to indemnify the purchasers of such investment to the extent that any such representations or warranties turn out to be inaccurate or misleading. These arrangements may result in liabilities for the Fund.

Secondary Investments. The Fund may acquire secondary investments from existing investors in co-investments and underlying funds. In many cases, the Fund will not have the opportunity to negotiate the terms of its secondary investments due to the lack of an established market for such investments. Secondary transactions are also subject to several risks including potential challenges by existing investors and associated costs and resources required to investigate the commercial, tax and legal issues. Secondary Investments may include investments in underlying funds, consequently the Fund will be subject to the risks of such underlying funds.

Non-controlling Investments. The Fund will generally not be the lead sponsor for Investments and will take non-controlling positions in Investments. It will primarily be the responsibility of the lead sponsor and/or a portfolio company's management to operate the Fund's Investments on a day-to-day basis. The success of the Fund's Investments will depend in substantial part on the skill and expertise of the lead sponsor and/or the portfolio companies' management.

Investments in securities. Among the investments the Fund may consider are interests in investments which may invest in debt or equity securities of companies which may be undergoing restructuring or require additional capital and active management.

These securities are subject to various inherent risks, including that (i) equity and debt securities fluctuate in value, often based on factors unrelated to the issuer of the securities, and such fluctuations can be pronounced, (ii) such investments generally may be subject to risks with respect to the issuer, (iii) the market for these securities may be less liquid than that for other higher rated or more widely followed securities, (iv) securities of some foreign issuers are less liquid and more volatile than securities of comparable U.S. issuers, and (v) securities markets in some countries are fragmented, small, and less liquid than the securities markets of the U.S. and certain other developed countries.

Restriction on withdrawal. The Fund is not intended to be a short-term investment and has no certainty of returns. An investment in the Fund is a long-term commitment. It is anticipated that there may be a significant period of time (up to eight years or more) before all of the Fund's Portfolio Investments are fully realized. Interests in the Fund nor any Fund investments are expected to be, freely assignable or transferable. Except in extremely limited circumstances, withdrawals from the Fund will not be permitted, and it is not anticipated that the Fund will be permitted to withdraw from its Investments. Investors must be prepared to bear the risks of owning Interests.

Investments Longer than Term. The Fund is able to invest in investments where it may not be advantageous to dispose of them prior to the date that the Fund commences dissolution, either by expiration of their term or otherwise. The Fund could potentially have to sell, distribute or otherwise dispose of investments at a disadvantageous time as a result of its dissolution. In addition, the dissolution of the Fund Compartment may be delayed to enable the Fund to dispose of these investments at an advantageous time.

BlackRock Private Equity Fund

Key Risks

Sustainability. The Fund is 'Article 8' for the purposes of the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation. Please refer to the prospectus for details on BlackRock's approach to sustainable investing with respect to the Fund. More information on sustainability aspects, pursuant to Regulation (EU) 2019/2088, is available at the following link. The decision to invest in the promoted fund should take into account all the characteristics or objectives of the promoted fund as described in its Prospectus Sustainability risk is an inclusive term to designate investment risk (probability or uncertainty of occurrence of material losses relative to the expected return of an investment) that relates to environmental, social and governance (ESG) issues.

Sustainability risk around environmental issues may include (but are not limited to), climate risk both physical and transition risk. Physical risk may arise from the physical effects of climate change. For example, frequent and severe climate-related events can impact products and services and supply chains. Transition risk (whether policy, technology, market or reputation risk) may arise from the adjustment to a low-carbon economy in order to mitigate climate change. Risks related to social issues can include but are not limited to labour rights and community relations. Governance related risks can include but are not limited to risks around board independence, ownership and control, or audit & tax management. These risks can impact an issuer's operational effectiveness and resilience as well as its reputation which may affect its profitability and in turn, its capital growth, ultimately impacting the value of holdings in the Fund.

Sustainability risk can also manifest itself through different existing risk types (including, but not limited to, market, liquidity, concentration, credit, etc.). Sustainability risk factors may have a material impact on an investment and may also increase the volatility, affect liquidity and may result in a loss to the value of shares or other interests in the investment.

All or a combination of these factors may have an unpredictable impact on the Fund's investments. Under normal market conditions such events could have a material impact on the value of an investor's shares or other interests in the Fund.
